Be It Resolved That-

In 1939 Tur Kerner, shall endeavor through its editorial and news columns to promote the following:

In Adequate Health Program

By continuation of the anti-syphilis campaign and cooperation with the United States Public Health Service and the American Social Hygiene Association, it should become evident that there as a delinite need for the inclusion of blood tests for syphilis in the examinations of entering freshmen. To aid in bringing this about and in educating the student body, it is hoped that campus organizations will cooperate by including in their programs for the year a study of syphilis as related to their particular fiields. These programs should have as their focal point, National Social Hygiene Day, February 1, 1939.

Criticism has been directed at the modern rendency to lay stress on matters of sex education and the venereal diseases. It is true that they are but parts of the general subjects of health education. But their significance lies in the fact that they have been uniformly disregarded in the past. Until they have been brought on a par with other phases of health education, little progress along the whole line can be expected.

Better Student Welfare

Primarily, this deals with the subject of housing conditions. To say that housing conditions are not all that they should be on this campus is something of an understatement. The two women's dorms at present house about 220 wonicu. Forumately, the number will be increased with the completion of the new Boyd hall addi-The three men's residence halls house approximately 260 students. The fraternities and sororities take care of about 642, and around 800 students are residents of Favette county. Our of an enrollment of over 3,600, that leaves approximately 1600 students who are forced to stay out in town. Although many of the rooming houses maintain high health standards, it is known that a great many students are staying in attics, basements, and crowded, unsanitary living quarters. In addition to health hazards. the scattered student body is difficult to super vise Very little unity of spirit or purpose can

Rooms in both places could be built and remed cheaply, yet would be adequate and healthful

Under the topic "Sindent Welfare" would .dso come any matters concerning study loads. ontside work, or general health and living conditions. In all of these matters Titt Kernii all endeavor to further the best interests of the students and the University.

Bette Understanding of the Union

As a whole, we thing of the Union merely as a plac of recreation, but the original plans also included the idea of promoting a friendlier and more civic-minded artitude among the students. The chief purpose is to bring about a more mohed student body-one that is not segregated the various cliques with conflicting purposes. It is the aim of THE KERNII. to encourage these high ideals of the Union in 1939.

It is also important for every Union member to know and understand the financial affairs of the building-where the money of the organization goes and for what purposes. And in conin ction with this phase, it is necessary that we know and understand the management of the Hi Yo Silverman, aweigh

While rummaging through some old copies of The Emory Phoenix, a magazine published at Emory university, Mr. Al Wathen came across poem which he passed on to us.

Written by one William Rawlings and entitled "The Professor Speaks," the poem is as

I hear the tired class twisting in their seats. I need but raise my eyes to see them stare With gleams in hungry blurs of weary flesh To where a mottled road winds into shades,

My voice drones on. The yearning eves

Bitter with silenced curses and contempt, They look at me. I, stolid, nerveless grind, Diag forth the lifeless lecture endlessly. I know they hate me and my musty terms,

My voice drones on. A soft breeze stirs my Desires awake within my shrivelled frame To hurl my mildewed notes afar and chase the breeze-!

But lools pay fools to talk of tiresome things. And I must live; and so, my voice drones on,

For Christmas

By JIM CALDWELL

REGARDLESS of how sophisticated the college student may outwardly seem to appear, the two weeks known as he Christmas Holidays never fail to bring out the little boy traits found in even the most bored-looking of the lot. This fact was very much in evidence during the long, draggy week just preceding the "go" signal. The fruit-caky, egg-noggy lays at home further proved the return to childish joys. And when the kids come back and start asking each other if Santa Claus had been good to them, the observer begins to wonder if he hasn't accidentally wan-

Student Opinion Surveys Show South And I'm always behind the eight ball. West Central Colleges Suffer Less From Propaganda

By JOE BELDEN Student Opinion Surveys of America

AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 6-Communist, socialist, and fasist propaganda among college students is being felt mainly in the East Central and Middle Atlantic states. This is shown by a nation-wide poll taken by the Student Opinion Surveys of America just as the Dies committee ended its investigation of un-American activities and is making preparations

The committee questioned professors of a New York college and other witnesses when it directed its search for propaganda to the college and university ranks of the nation.

What those people have seen and heard went into the record—but re-read it and revise it, adding to what about the views of the stuit ai lthe time," Doctor Ross exdents themselves who are now supoosedly being beseiged with a mui-He said that "students use poor

Aihough when the results are taken nationally one student in every ten ays there has been some attempt Influence him, the poll reveals that student bodies in the West and South are very seidom approached with such propaganda.

A staff of interviewers have asked this question to a carefully selectcd cross-section of students of ail descriptions: "Has any attempt been made on your campus to influence you with communism, socialism, or fascism?" By geographical sections, they have answered

Calling 'Em Wild By JOE CREASON

W HO are the originators of those annual malevolent crusades over the way post season "bowl" games are undermining and leading to ruin college football?

Some one should slip a halter on those guys before they really get out of control. Every year, with no exceptions, the selection of opposing teams for the Bowl games is the signal for sport writers of all sections to swing into a lamentation over the menace of the after-hours classics to collegiate football's foundation. Such pessimistic forecasts are as much out of place as a Marine at players taking part in college foot-

Not Ready For Ruin If these figures represent a sport that is tottering on the brink of ruin. I'd eertainly appreciate some ones eursing me with the present of a few shares of Rose Bowl stock. Predicting ruin to a thing backed by such a generous chunk of public support and good, round American dollars as these games obviously are is like waiting for the House of Morgan to plead bankruptcy.

The football season lasts but two and a half months, yet despite its abbrevlated season, the sport enjoys more concentrated national enthusiasm than baseball-and remember the Horsehideville residents are accepted as national darlings. Any ordinary week-end during the football season commands more natlonal attention through radio broadcasts and space in the newspapers than does baseball's five-bell presentation, the World Series.
